A message from the CSR and Sustainability manager Starzeus...

"I am passionate about the sustainable change that we can make together, for children, women and all families"

I am immensely proud on how the last year the MA Trust has prospered and developed, together we have reached more beneficiaries, increased our finances and diversified the support we give to those less fortunate. We continue to provide access to quality education, provision of healthcare resources, creation of jobs through sustainable income generating activities and providing access to clean water and sanitation.

WHAT WE DO

We work in three main areas:

EDUCATION

Directly supporting children, youth and adults to go to school or vocational classes and remain until completion.

HEALTHCARE

Creating access to life-changing healthcare services for mothers and children.

INCOME GENERATION

Equipping the most vulnerable and marginalised community members with the training, skill-set and opportunities to generate a sustainable income through livelihoods.

MEET TABAROK

Poverty and immigration on one hand, and losing her daughter whom she loved so dearly on the other hand impacted her entire life; Tabarok sunk into depression, twice she had a stoke and she was hospitalized. The doctors advised her to find a hobby or a job and try not to be alone.

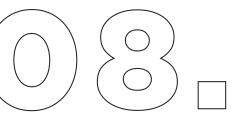

So she joined our silk weaving programme, since she started to learn weaving in our centres, and she attended workshops on silk dying, and designing. After she learned weaving, we provided her with a loom, and necessary materials for weaving. Now she has a loom in her house and spends most of her time creating garments to sell. She says:

"I was very eager to learn weaving. It was enjoyable for me. I used to go earlier than the others to the weaving centres, and I was trying not to miss any of the training. Since then, I didn't have time to think about my past or anything else. After i learned weaving, I was given a loom and some other accessories. I spend most of my time behind the loom now".

Tabarok sells the shawls she makes in the bazaar, or to relatives and neighbours and sometimes she receives orders from local factories.

HOW WE WORK

AT THE MONSOON ACCESSORIZE TRUST WE ARE SELECTIVE ABOUT WHO WE PARTNER WITH AND FUND.

Through a talented and trusted group of partners. We believe the most effective way to operate is to work with partners with strong experience and expertise to local communities in Asia and the UK.

We aim to develop long lasting partnership, this allows us the opportunity to work closely with our partners to ensure the best programmes are implemented to the women, children and communities that we support. On occasion we do fund one-off project that addresses emergency need if a country or community is impacted by a severe disaster.

Between 2017/2018 we worked with 18 UK based Charity partners and 5 Indian based charities. All of whom are required to have governance controls in place, including child protection and safeguarding policies. Programme proposals are agreed in accordance to providing:

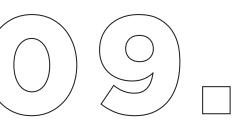

A DETAILED PROJECT PROPOSAL ALIGNMENT WITH OUR STRATEGY A MONTHLY IMPLEMENTATION PLAN A MONITORING AND EVALUATION PLAN

A formal grant agreement is then signed by the partner and the Monsoon Accessorize Trust, outlining the grants terms including financial reporting and controls.

We like to work closely with our partners to monitor the progress of the programmes they implement against the agreed proposal. We maintain regular contact and receive regular formal updates the programmes progression. We also conduct programme visits to all of our projects. All of these activities help us to ensure that funds donated to the

MAGIC BUS

Magic Bus was established in 1999 by founder Matthew Spacie. It is an organisation that helps children and young people in India that are living in poverty, their work has spread across 22 states in India to help more than 375,000 children and 10,000 young people out of poverty.

In 2017-18 Magic Bus have provided 1,533 children with an education. The curriculum is specifically designed to prepare young people from relegated communities for employment. This will allow the children to learn life skills and to develop personal and social skills. The curriculum that Magic Bus cover are core skills to help children when they leave school

The key skills are:

COMMUNICATION

So they know what their rights are at the workplace are violated, professional ethics and peers can influence each other positively to attend and participate at work. They develop communication skills effectively by talking to their colleagues, therefore overcoming fear of public speaking.

PROBLEM SOLVING

They learn to make informed decisions.
They will learn to explain 3 impacts of taking informed decisions on self and others. Peer pressure would affect their career choices and how they would deal with it.

MANAGING SELF

By doing a SWOT analysis of themselves with respect to their interests and become aware of strategies to overcome constraints and capitalize on their strengths.

TEAM WORK

By doing a SWOT analysis of themselves with respect to their interests and become aware of strategies to overcome constraints and capitalize on their strengths.

PRIYA'S STORY

Incredible confidence is hard to miss - and she knows it. A star Science student, she already knows she wants to be a doctor. Just as she humbly states she does 'well' at school, her mother cannot help but interrupt to tell us she has consistently topped her Class for three years.

Priya is the youngest of four siblings, all of whom have quickly made big steps towards big dreams. Her older sister, Renuka, wakes up at 5 am every morning to attend intensive professional Kabaddi training at the local police camp, and is set on becoming a part of the Delhi Police Force:

'India needs more women police officers like us,' she says. Priya's other sister, Pinky, was a teacher at the local YMCA before joining a Magic Bus livelihood centre - she now has a steady job at Pressto, the global dry-cleaning outlet. All this becomes even more remarkable when you hear their mother speak of where these girls were just a few years ago - "They have changed so much: they have such polished manners and grace now, and have grown into highly compassionate, dedicated, talented girls". "Mera sar uncha kar diya hai meri ladkiyon ne", she says, beaming with pride.
